

Many language programs and instructors have needed to quickly change from in-person to online instruction modes this year. If you are looking for ways to improve your delivery, join us to explore tools and best practices for virtual classroom set-up and management. Dr. Sang-Seok Yoon, Associate Professor of Instruction and Korean Language Coordinator at the University of Iowa's Asian & Slavic Languages and Literatures Department, and Dr. Bumyong Choi, Senior Lecturer and Korean Language Program Coordinator at Emory University's Department of Russian and East Asian Languages and Cultures, share their expertise on designing and adapting Korean language instruction for the online classroom. Facilitating a Q&A with the speakers is Dr. Joowon Suh, President of the American Association of Teachers of Korean (AATK) and Senior Lecturer in the Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures and Director of the Korean Language Program at Columbia University.

Designing and Adapting Korean Language Instruction for Virtual Delivery

PREMIERES: Wednesday, September 30, 2020

The Korea Society

350 Madison Avenue, 24th Floor
New York, NY 10017

Follow the link below:

<https://www.koreasociety.org/education/item/1432-designing-and-adapting-korean-language-instruction-for-virtual-delivery>